NJRC is committed to providing critically needed services to court involved individuals to empower them to achieve healthy self-sufficiency, thereby reducing recidivism and fostering safer communities. Working with private employers and public agencies, the NJRC strives to maximize the training and employment of this discrete population.

NJRC aims to provide clients with addiction treatment, structured sober housing, job training and employment, linkage to legal services and healthcare, and spiritual mentoring.

50,062 NJ Incarcerated Persons
2,284 NJ Overdose Deaths
3,945 NJRC Clients

Many formerly incarcerated persons are ‘super utilizers’ of emergency health care services, due to chronic medical conditions, including Hepatitis C, HIV, and diabetes. The early utilization of preventative diagnostic healthcare services with sustained, consistent treatment will enable persons to access healthcare faster, more reliably, and with anticipated better health outcomes. The NJRC provides valuable research and a practical path to enhance success to date.”

—GOVERNOR JIM FLORIO

The NJRC is fighting the good fight, providing critically needed services to persons returning from prison and jail. It is an honor to serve with the NJRC as our clients transform their lives to productive employment and healthy citizenship.”

—GOVERNOR THOMAS KEAN

My late husband, Mayor and State Senator Glenn Cunningham, established the Second Chance program in Jersey City. It’s been fulfilling to watch this initiative grow and expand throughout New Jersey. The New Jersey Reentry Corporation has provided critically needed services, including addiction treatment, housing referrals, job training and employment, legal services, and linkage to healthcare, which are all necessary to support persons returning from incarceration.”

—SENATOR SANDRA CUNNINGHAM
